GEORGIA TECH'S NEW GAINESVILLE OFFICE
HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

January 26, 1979

For Immediate Release

ATLANTA, GA.....An open house for Georgia Tech's new area office at 419 Bradford St., N.W. in Gainesville, Ga., will be held from 2:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 2. The general public is invited to attend the event, which is being co-hosted by the Georgia Poultry Federation. The Georgia Poultry Federation is also located in Gainesville and works closely with Georgia Tech on poultry research efforts.

According to Phil Loveless, director of the new Northeast Georgia Area Office, the Gainesville facility is one of eight area offices which are operated by Georgia Tech. The other area offices are located in Albany, Augusta, Carrollton, Douglas, Macon, Rome and Savannah.

Loveless says that these offices have been successful in attracting new business and industry to Georgia and in providing management and technical assistance to business, industrial firms, and entrepreneurs in the state.

Officials from the Georgia Tech campus as well as state legislators, municipal officials, and local industrial and business leaders from the 21-county northeast area are expected to attend the open house.
